The Metropolitan Police Force is currently undergoing a major re-organisation programme in support of divisional policing. This involves substantial changes to the roles of HQ Departments, the merging of the two intermediate command levels (District and Area) into a single level (the eight new Areas), and gradual devolution of functions and staff from Headquarters. In essence the headquarters responsibilities are now as follows:

Assistant Commissioner, Territorial Operations: overall responsibility for all policing functions which are carried out through the Divisions and Areas, including matters relating to crime, public order and traffic.

Assistant Commissioner, Specialist Operations: overall responsibility for all policing functions which are carried out through centrally organised units on behalf of the force as a whole, including forcewide operations against terrorism and certain serious crimes, and national policing functions.

Assistant Commissioner, Personnel and Training: overall responsibility for all aspects of Force training (including firearms) and personnel matters.

Assistant Commissioner, Management Support: overall responsibility for research and forward planning, force policy analysis, the monitoring of performance, public information and the co-ordination of investigations into alleged police malpractice.
